“ Mrs. Francis was a kind and pleasant neighbour in Jamaica. She loved her children, her God and other people's children as she loved her own. May her soul rest in peace.

“ Mrs. Francis was my neighbour in Jamaica. She was a dear sweet lady who was also the mother of my dearest childhood friend, Carol. I remember her being a comforting presence when my parents were at work and I was on the afternoon shift in Primary School. Knowing Mrs. Francis was there took my fears of being alone away. In fact, most times I would be in her home (uninvited) until it was time to get ready for school. Her doors were always open and her heart and home welcoming. I remember fondly the days she'd pick me up and put me over the fence that separated your yards. This was to ensure I wouldn't be in trouble for not being home when my dad got home from work. Those 2 sec “drops” over the fence saved me many times.

Carol, Patrick and Erica, I pray you'll find comfort in knowing your mother is with her God and Saviour whom she loved very much. May He now carry you and comfort you in your grief. While it's difficult now, there will come a time when you are able to smile at her memory instead of shedding tears.
