“ I've only seen my grandma /lil mommy drink alcohol ONCE. That one time occurred three yrs ago at her birthday party... my aunt drove a family friend home and my grandma leaned over to me and said 'When they leave I want you to go in my room and get the bottle of Ruby Rich (Belizean's know this bottle 🤪) and you and I are going to have a drink' As my aunt pulled out of her driveway my grandma/mommy said 'Go get it now'... We giggled, gossiped, and clinked our glasses as we enjoyed a glass of wine. Glasses were washed and the bottle was placed back in her room before my aunt returned. No one knew this had happened until I shared it with my aunts a few weeks ago. Mommy and I had our special moments; filled with conversations about religion, politics, family, gossip, and naughty/risqué jokes that I instigated to get her to laugh (she always did); but the moments we shared that was only between us are the ones that will always remain priceless 💕💔🙏

Dear Aunt Vera, I remember her soft voice and kindness to me and my two children. I visited Belize and stayed at a boarding house for a few days, but went every day to see her in Petticoat Alley. She would offer to make tea and serve us.

The last long conversation I had with her, we talked about old fairy tales and we laughed.

Her memories will live on in all those who knew and loved her.

Goodmorning Lynn, I received the sad news of Ms V making her last trip home.

Even though I knew it was going to happen, I still cannot believe it. She is now in a Happy place and I am happy for her and we have the promise that we will meet again in our heavenly home.

Ms V was like a mother to me and always made me feel safe. It was always so easy for me to fall asleep in her presence as I knew she would always look out for me. She was one person who genuinely worried about me.

Ms V and I had so many adventures together over the years and we loved to sit and reminisce and relive the time.

I am so honored to have been able to see and visit with Ms V and to have had the pleasure of talking with her last month She could still make us laugh and feel she was still in charge. I am happy that Misha, Yvonne and, Sonny's girls were able to accompany me on my visit with Ms.V.

“ Today Jennifer & I visited Ms. Vera's home as we usually do on Sundays. However, this visit felt very different since we didn't go into the room and say " Hi Ms. Vera. How yuh feel todeh?" Instead, we sat in the family room with other family members and friends and talked. One thing that kept running through my mind was the fact that exactly two weeks ago Ms. Vera sang happy birthday to me. Not just happy birthday, she sang the whole birthday song and with a very strong voice. Unfortunately, it was never recorded. However, it made an indelible print on my mind which I will always remember and treasure.

A million thanks to Dale & Lynn for giving me the opportunity to experience such a moment.

“ Tribute to Ms. Vera Fuller: A Beloved Matriarch of Petticoat Alley

Ms. Roselind Elvira Fuller aka Ms. Vera, one of the last matriarchs of Petticoat Alley, left an indelible mark on her community before passing away peacefully on March 7th, 2025 at the remarkable age of 101. Her life spanned over a century, during which she became a cornerstone of a neighborhood where close friends became family, a tradition that continues to this day.

Ms. Vera's extraordinary memory was a treasure trove of history and stories from Petticoat Alley. Her home was a beacon for those seeking information about their roots, with her daughter Lynn often fielding calls from community members eager to tap into Ms. Vera's vast knowledge of "back home". Her ability to recall details and share experiences from decades past made her an invaluable link to the neighborhood's rich history.

In her final years, Ms. Vera continued to savor life's simple pleasures. A touching memory recalls her enjoying a stout milkshake, specially prepared by my husband, demonstrating her appreciation for life's small joys even in her twilight years. This moment encapsulates the warmth and closeness that defined the Petticoat Alley community.

Ms. Vera's influence extended beyond her immediate family, touching the lives of many in the neighborhood. Me and her granddaughter's friendship is a testament to the lasting bonds forged under Ms. Vera's watchful eye. Weekends and evenings spent on her stairs and verandah, summers spent in Miami under her vigilant care created memories that have lasted a lifetime, showcasing her role not just as a grandmother, but as a guardian and nurturer of the community's youth.

It seems fitting that Ms. Vera lived to celebrate her 101st birthday, as if determined to complete a full century plus one year on this earth. Her longevity was matched only by her impact on those around her, and her passing leaves a void in the hearts of all who knew her.

As we remember Ms. Vera Fuller, we celebrate a life well-lived and a legacy that continues through the enduring friendships and family-like bonds of the Petticoat Alley community. Her memory will surely be cherished, and her influence will continue to shape the neighborhood she loved for generations to come. Sleep in peace Ms. Vera!!
